Welcome to

A Broadway Cabaret! What a wonderful way to celebrate the Great White Way and the amazing songs and dances within. Even better.... the celebration originates from our amazing young, talented artists willing to share their hard work with you.

And what a team we have to help make this, and all of our concerts this year come to life! From our production team hanging backdrops, creating lights, sound and props.....to our amazing studio team... Jen and Meghan at the front desk not only making sure everyone gets to their classes and back to their car safely, but taking temperatures, sorting costumes, answering phones, and anything else that may arise...the amazing Nik, who does it all from billing, answering your questions, taking care of the building, and even helping us with several of our classes and rehearsals.....the beautiful, talented and amazing instructors, musical directors and choreographers who are masters in their field – Michael James, Stephanie Jacobson, Trudy Yeatts, Jessica Burrell Logue, Caitie Hays, Sarah Gibson, and Wendy Eaton. The years of training, expertise, talent and passion from this list of artists could fill twelve football fields and beyond. It is an honor to be their colleague and friend. Most importantly, it is our students that are the stars, the focus, and the main reason we are all here. Here's to THEM! The ones who have endured this past year of change and uncertainty yet, are the ones entering our building with infectious positive energy with the desire to be artists in spite of any pandemic that may get in their way. They are our heroes and we salute them.

So BRAVO to a year of amazing artists whose love for musical theater rises above any barrier that may keep them away. And to YOU, the parents who support and love them. We salute you.

And a reminder we have many exciting events on the calendar for students and parents!! Students from first through twelfth grades interested in auditioning for the Rose Brigades and/or our student dance company, Rose Dance Project have auditions Sat. June 5! Rose Brigades also have other auditions August. And be sure to join us Sat. June 12 for our STUDIO OPEN HOUSE! Parents and guests are invited into our amazing new facility for tours, performances of our Rose Dance Project, Rose Brigade, sample classes, and so much more!! Don't hesitate to contact Nik Whitcomb or myself with questions.

And now, grab your seats because it's time to celebrate Broadway.....The Rose Style!! Please enjoy our Broadway Cabaret!
